Got the draft. Read it twice. Mostly good. A few things:

1. The training line item is still vague. I see 'developer enablement, up to 40 hours' but no detail on what those 40 hours are. My CTO is going to ask, and 'TBD' won't survive that meeting.
2. The day-2 ops handoff at day 30 feels aggressive. I'd like to negotiate that to day 45, with the weekly cadence kicking in then.
3. Section 4.2 references 'standard Red Hat acceptance criteria.' Could you either inline what those are or reference a public document? Our procurement team will balk at the open reference.

Otherwise the install plan, the cluster topology, and the pricing all look reasonable. I'd like to come back to you on the rest by Friday.
